

Neighborhood Fundamentals, LLC

Job Description: 2020 Policy Intern

Internship Description

Neighborhood Fundamentals seeks a part-time (approximately 10-20 hours per week), paid Policy Intern to assist in implementing the organization's full suite of housing affordability and community development activities (see organizational information below). Specific tasks may include:

- Review of literature, research, and news related to affordable housing and community development
- Analyzing and summarizing source documents and writing concise policy analyses
- Database management
- Data and geospatial analysis
- Website maintenance and social media work
- Other duties as assigned

Neighborhood Fundamentals is committed to the professional development of all its employees. As a reflection of that commitment, the Policy Intern will be provided with educational opportunities related to housing and community development. The Policy Intern will also have an opportunity to attend industry meetings and connect with practitioners in the housing and community development field as part of their job responsibilities. Finally, the Policy Intern will also have the opportunity to publish their work, including blog posts on the Neighborhood Fundamentals website (www.neighborhoodfundamentals.com).

The Policy Internship is a paid position. The internship term is expected to last approximately 12 weeks, though the term is negotiable. All work is conducted remotely.

Required Qualifications

Interested applicants must be enrolled in or have graduated from an undergraduate or graduate program related to housing, community development, economic development, public policy, or a related field. Applicants without formal academic experience but with equivalent work experience will be considered. Applicants should have strong writing and analytical skills. Proficiency in statistics and/or geospatial analysis is strongly preferred.

The Policy Internship is a remote/teleworking position; as such it is critical that candidates are highly-motivated and have the ability to productively work under limited in-person supervision.
